Notwithstanding the varied and various affiliations of the Bull Moose party, the Louisville observer agrees with most other careful students of the times that a party whose sole bond of union is loyalty to one man is not likely to have much influence in the future politics of the country.-Public Ledger. Why Not Tax Golfers? The proposed emergency revenue measure levies a three per cent tax on freight transportation bills. That is making the wealthy interests of the country bear the burden of the increased taxation with a vengeance. It has been estimated that golf costs the United States $50,000,000 a year. It is a luxury that those who can afford to pay the price enjoy immensely-as much, perhaps, as does the poor devil, who quaffs his glass of beer, upon which is imposed an additional tax of 50 cents a barrel. The fegenuity of the tax fixer seems to have overlooked golf as a possible source of revenue that would not have pressed heavily on the great wage earning classes.

Democratic candidates for congress, who have been consoling themselves with the thought that the stoppage of European imports, due to the war, has one had a name for the baby, but had the same effect as a tariff wall of Prohibitive height, and therefore has blanketed the tariff issue for the purposes of the congressional campaign, are simply reckoning without the traveling salesman.

It is of little benefit to any industry to be well protected by the tariff if the rest of the country is not prosperous. A well-adjusted tariff benefits business generally. There is no accident in the process. The nation itself is protected from cheap labor products from abroad and can pursue its way, with prosperity and high wages.

Moreover the vaunted protection which certain industries are said to year and it is hoped that still greater masses to enjoy that delectable and be receiving from the cessation of imports, takes no account of the needs of the treasury. Under a protective tariff ample revenue is obtained for the government, while industry and wages are protected from the lower standards of wages that prevail abroad.

The war is apt to bring the tariff problem home to the people in a new light. They have had their experience with a tariff for revenue only for the first time in many years, and the younger generation of business men know more about the subject now than they did before the new tariff law went into effect.

Evil of Free Raw Wool. If it were not for the injury to the industries involved the test of free wool and free sugar might be welcomed in the sense that it has shown the utter fallacy of a time-worn argument. How He Forgave McNab. A Scotchman on his deathbed was reminded by the attending minister that the hour of death is an hour for the banishing of all ill-feeling-a time for universal forgiveness. He was a McGregor, and his feud with the McNabs had been notable. So the clergyman, with the family's permission and assistance, summoned the head of clan McNab to the dying

McGregor's bedside. "I forgive ye, McNab," whispered the expiring man, "wi' all my heart-but may my curse rest on my son forever

570 High St., Oshkosh, Wis.-"When about two months old my nephew had sores break out on different parts of his body. The trouble first began as the time, but you cannot fool all the a rash which itched so at night someone always held his hands, even while sleeping, as at the least scratching it would run together and form scabs. careful forever after not to pick an-His night-clothes had to have mittens on them or the scabs would be raw and bleeding by morning. His clothing or the least friction irritated the trouble. His face and scalp were cov-

Shows the Folly of Toting a Gun. A little sermon on peace by Home Hoch: "Old Bill Jones always carried a gun or two, and by much practicewhen he should have been at work-he became a crack shot. He said that he didn't propose to be caught unprepared, and that he went armed in order to keep out of trouble. But old Bill Jones was in more brawls than anybody, and was finally gathered to his fathers by a gent who was a little quicker on the trigger. Nations have been proceeding on the Bill Jones theory. This theory-played up strong by the Honorable Krupp and othershas been that in order to insure peace they must be ready to fight the world on a moment's notice. But the nations are just like old Bill. The Bill Jones theory is ready for the junk pile."-Kansas City Star.
